Campaign pledge

I believe that if I get the chance to go parliament I would be able to set up a development fund which will be revolving from the devolved fund to help the women and the youth of my constituency to come out and develop themselves with projects that will empower them so that we can educate many orphans in the constituency that have dropped out of school.

I have already helped women and youth in my constituency to set up projects like poultry project, brick laying and through this we have been able to construct houses for widows.

“ Every year 30 children enroll in class one and by the time they get to class 8 there are only 4 students. If we talk about 30% women representation in all decision making levels where will we get these women to come up for these positions if the girl child is uneducated?”

I will use my skills as a teacher to help in enrollment and retention of the girl child in education for them to come up and compete equitably with the boys in decision making.
